

Mark Gleason

Executive Director, Philadelphia School Partnership

Mark Gleason is Executive Director of the Philadelphia School Partnership, the city's largest public charity supporting K-12 education. PSP invests to expand access to great schools, be they traditional or charter, public or private. The organization invests philanthropic resources to create, expand and transform schools that are in high demand and provides information, tools and other supports to families to ensure great schools are accessible to all.

Mark was drawn to PSP by its emphasis on supporting all kinds of great schools, regardless of their governance model or political alliances. An entrepreneurial leader with a record of launching and growing new ventures, Mark worked primarily in media and marketing prior to joining PSP. His commitment to improving schools was ignited when he served on the board of education in a suburban New Jersey school district from 2006 to 2012.

Mark has coached a variety of youth sports and still plays them—especially basketball—whenever he can.